For more than 40 years, Fieldwork has been a leading qualitative research partner. We recruit respondents according to client specifications and host in-person, remote, and hybrid research sessions where clients uncover insights for brand and business impact. Fieldwork coordinates logistics and provides customized global project management. Whether in one of our 13 state-of-the-art facilities, outside of a Fieldwork venue or online, we match the desired experience to the study requirements. Fieldwork offers you innovative recruitment, first-class project management and courteous support.

Fieldwork has a team dedicated to implementation and management of projects in the USA and around the world. Our project managers have extensive experience in market research and will coordinate all projects reliably in multiple cities with one point of contact.

When your research is online, Fieldwork’s dedicated team of experts ensure our project is a success. The personalized project management, first-class recruitment and our excellent hosting staff await you in a virtual environment.

Fieldwork can support your research anywhere by bringing the studio equipment to non-traditional locations where you want to perform tests. The Fieldwork services are customized and can be tailored to needs and requirements of your project.
